Biography

I am a student of knowledge, researcher and seasoned educationist. My research interest and works revolve around digital education and educational management and planning. I am currently investigating access to higher education and designing a learning environment for students in the rural context leveraging on how Open Distance Learning (ODL) can be used to address educational access problems in Nigeria. I am also working on Open Educational Resources (OER) identifying 'open' futures and opportunities for the application of digital technologies for educational opportunities that build on Indigenous knowledge systems and promote sustainable education that is aimed at attaining sustainable future for Africa

I believe in systematic change which begins with the individual and community, I believe in the common good for the public purpose and selfless commitment to certain ideals which brings about glory, not for an individual or group but humanity.
